WE ARE YOUTH

The foundation of every state or country is the education of its youth. - Diogenes

South Africa celebrates all young people on Youth Day in remembrance of the bravery and sacrifice of the Soweto Uprising youth.

A demonstration in Soweto on June 16, 1976, that was mostly led by high school students was violently suppressed by the police, which sparked a wave of protests and armed clashes throughout South Africa. Currently, the day is remembered as Youth Day, a yearly national holiday on which South Africans honor the significance of the Soweto Uprisings, the bravery of those who took part, as well as the value of assisting the youth all throughout the nation.

FIVE APPROACHES TO SUCCESSFULLY INTEGRATE YOUTH EMPLOYMENT

1. ENCOURAGE ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Businesses can promote entrepreneurship by providing employees with the tools to test and implement new ideas.

Young people need to develop technical, business, and life skills to break the cycle of unemployment and benefit the firm.

2. OFFER TRAINING AND EDUCATION AS YOU WORK

Young workers benefit from on-the-job training, which promotes inclusion and diversity and bridges the gap between education and the labor market.

3. MENTORING BETWEEN GENERATIONS

Mentorship that crosses generations is beneficial for both generations, leading to more cohesive teams and a more productive workplace.

4. BREAKING THE LOOP OF "NO JOB, NO EXPERIENCE"

Youth employment programs can help companies break the "no-job-no-experience" cycle and improve career opportunities for young people without connections. They also have economic and societal advantages, such as improved career opportunities.

5. PROVIDING THE RIGHT SUPPORT

Skills development, financial support, and inclusion are essential for young people to gain access to the job market, as they often lack the skills and money needed.
